School Report.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Board of Sanbornton:

The success of any school system depends to a large degree upon its teachers. Such successes as our schools have had the past year are due to the fact that we have again been able to retain the same experienced teachers who have been so successful in the past.

The total number of pupils has not changed much from that of last year but their distribution in the town's schools has changed largely. Owing to removals there were but five pupils left in the Square district at the opening of the spring term and that school was closed and the pupils transported to the Hunkins school. To save transportation expense and because of the number of pupils the Meadow school was re-opened in September with an enrollment of twelve pupils. The Gaza school was closed owing to removals and the pupils remaining were cared for at the Chapel school while the North Sanbornton school which last year was a very small school opened in September with an enrollment of sixteen pupils, making it the largest school in the town.

As the most of our teachers have been in the service of the district for some time their success is well known, but I wish to attest to their faithful, conscientious work during the past year. Their hours of school work have not been limited by the hours of the school sessions and they merit our praise and respect.

During the past year we have had for a time a number of magazines for the use of the pupils. These were furnished from a local fund available for school purposes. Their use as silent reading by the pupils has not only increased their knowledge of current events, history, geography and literature, but has extended their vocabulary and has had a tendency to create in them a love of reading and a desire for a better class of reading than before. If this fund is again available for our use I would suggest a lesser number of periodicals, but I believe the results justify the expenditure of the money.

In a modern school of today there are many subjects eliminated that were taught a few years ago; among these are such processes as factoring, finding the greatest common divisor, bank discount, diagramming of sentences, the bounding of isolated states, conjugation of verbs, etc. It has been my work the past year to talk over with the teachers what might be passed over and what fundamentals should receive more emphasis in the time gained thereby. I have tried to suggest new ways of getting at certain ends with less time and effort, to maintain them in their discipline and at all times to encourage them in their work.

Our school buildings as a rule are in creditable condition. Ceilings have been repaired and whitened where needed and new lighting area added at the Chapel school. The removal of the paper from the walls and painting them with an oil paint of a light color which could be easily cleaned when necessary would add much to the lighting of that school. A new floor is greatly needed there as well, as the old floor has been worn so thin as to hardly hold the seats and chairs. A gradual increase in the number of books purchased for the lower grades will greatly add to the results in those grades. New dictionaries have been purchased and supplied to the upper grades this past year.

I would express my appreciation of the support given me by the School Board, the teachers and the citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE A. KEITH.
